ABOUT FREDERICK J FRENCH

Frederick J French founded the company in 1895 and it grew to become a well-established, family building firm. After his death in 1947 the company was sold to the surviving directors and since that time has been owned and managed by "hands-on" directors working full-time in the business and incorporating the values of a family firm. In 2011, the remains were bought by a local investor wishing to rebuild the business and expand their core activities as a "family builder".

We are proud to say that the values and standards of FJ French continue to this day. We believe in forming long-term relationships with our clients based on the principles of co-operation and teamwork. We pride ourselves on providing an excellent quality product combined with a team of highly skilled craftsmen.

We believe in providing a safe working environment for our staff, subcontractors and clients and ensure our policies, procedures and practices meet the most exacting professional standards.
